Welcome back to a new academic year everyone!

I would like to welcome everyone back to the new academic year 2025–2026 and although it may seem a long time ago now, I hope you all had a lovely summer and made the most of the good weather.

I would particularly like to welcome our new pupils, starting on their 'Curnow' journey, their families and the new staff who are part of the amazing teaching teams at Karder, Lower and Upper School.

We are looking forward to another action packed year, supporting the pupils back into their learning and watching them continue to develop and progress over the year.

We are keen this year to share some of the developments that we have put in place, from our learning pathways, aspirational aims and pledges that we have been working hard on to ensure we are supporting every pupil in the best way we can.

Over the year we will be sharing this information and provide opportunities for you to input in to these developments and have your say.

Again, it is great to see everyone back at school and we look forward to a great year ahead!

Staff News

A warm welcome to our new staff members

We're thrilled to introduce the newest faces joining our school community. Get to know them below.

Post 16—P1 Teacher

Julian Seary

I'm excited to be joining as the new P1 Post-16 class teacher. I feel privileged to be part of such a supportive and inspiring team, and I'm really looking forward to the year ahead. I see myself as a creative and ambitious teacher who strives to bring care, happiness and fun into the classroom. When I'm not teaching, I love spending time outdoors, exploring and enjoying nature.

Rock Class Teacher

Martyn Wing

My name is Martyn Wing, and I'm delighted to be your child's teacher for 2025/2026. I recently moved to Cornwall after teaching in New Zealand for the past three years and will be completing my Early Career Teacher (ECT) training here at Curnow school.

I feel incredibly privileged to be part of the Curnow school Community. I'm passionate about inclusive education and teaching a holistic curriculum that supports every child to grow in confidence, develop essential life skills, and enjoy learning. My goal is to create a classroom environment where all learners feel safe, valued, and inspired to reach their full potential.
